Knowing Me; Knowing You Using Personality Trait Models to Significantly Improve Motivation, Engagement and Learning

A practical, insightful, inspiring and classroom focused day designed to help you get the very best out of all your learners

Good teachers know that success in the classroom grows out of building great relationships. The better your understanding of yourself and others, the better those relationships will be. Drawing on his extensive work in personality traits, profiling, psychology and from the latest research in what makes us tick, David will take delegates through all they need to know to better understand themselves and their learners, especially those hard-to-reach young people who can be the greatest challenge. Delegates will leave with a whole toolkit of practical strategies to take back to their classrooms to improve relationships, motivation, engagement and, ultimately, achievement.

Audience: Teaching and learning, leadership, careers guidance, pastoral care. All phases

In his quietly unassuming and dryly humorous way, David Hodgson goes about changing lives for the better. With a background in careers education, David has built a nationwide reputation for his ability to take complex ideas about how we get the best out of ourselves and others and make them as accessible to young people and teachers through books such as The Buzz, The Little Book of Charisma, Invisible Teaching and, most recently, The Brain Box.
