Dirty Teaching The Almost Complete Guide to Taking Your Teaching and Learning Outside

Everything you need to know to enjoy the many benefits of taking your classroom outside - whether you have school grounds, a field or just a square of tarmac.

This event is a practical, hands on day-course with one of the UK's leading practitioners when it comes to taking teaching and learning beyond the confines of the classroom, whatever environment lies beyond your classroom door.

Drawing on the many ideas and strategies in her ground-breaking new book Dirty Teaching, Juliet will show all teachers how learning and motivation can be improved in even your most reluctant learners when you move beyond the classroom and take your class outside. Outdoor clothing a must!

Audience: Primary school leaders and classroom practitioners, SEND, G&T. Suitable for EYFS and key stages 1 and 2

Juliet is an international education consultant who specialises in outdoor learning and play. She works at a national level in Scotland on behalf of Education Scotland, the Forestry Commission and other organisations and writes the award-winning blog 'I'm a Teacher, get me OUTSIDE here!'. Her first book, Dirty Teaching, was published by Independent Thinking Press earlier this year.
