

Uncharted Territories

New from Dr Debra Kidd, Hywel Roberts
and Independent Thinking

Two of our most in-demand Associates currently are Dr Debra Kidd and Hywel Roberts. So when these two long-time friends and highly experienced teachers get together to produce an extraordinary book and a special 'limited edition' training package to go with it, we get a little excited.

Uncharted Territories is all about not only giving the curriculum back to the teacher but giving it to the children too. It's about building real-world skills into your everyday teaching and learning. It's about tapping into children's natural curiosity to get them fully engaged in deep learning. And when it comes to empowering, challenging and motivating the children and the adults in the classroom, Debra and Hywel's amazing work genuinely delivers.

To celebrate the national launch of Uncharted Territories, we are delighted to offer a special hands-on training package for primary schools at a special price with a free copy of the book - but it is first come first served, available only to the first ten schools who book.
