The Complete Guide to Improving Homework by Not Setting It

When it comes to using homework to improve classroom achievement there has to be another way. This is it

Homework is one of education's sacred cows. Every teacher sets it. Most schools have a policy on it. The majority of children hate it. And that's before the teacher ends up having to mark it.

Unhomework is different. Drawn from Mark Creasy's experience in primary and secondary schools across the state and independent sectors, it is a whole-school approach that will fundamentally change how you see homework. Practical, realistic and honest, this exclusive day-course shows you how to get staff, children and parents on board and transform the work done outside the classroom into something far more meaningful and effective.

Focus: Teaching and learning, leadership, curriculum. Suitable for all phases

Mark is a rare creature in the world of education in many ways. Currently working in the independent sector, he has many years experience in the state sector. Although he trained and worked at secondary level, he is now working at primary level. And although he has been a secondary head he is now, to stay close to the heart of the learning, a classroom teacher. It is from such a rich experience of education that Unhomework was born
