The Chasm How To Improve Transition in Your School

A practical guide to improving transition for all by working more creatively and collaboratively between schools and across your community

Back in 2009, education guru David Hargreaves said that transition was education's biggest unresolved issue. Sadly, we suggest, it still is. With so much pressure on schools to address countless other challenges thrown at them, transition is one area that never really seems to get a look in. But it doesn't have to be that way.

With leadership experience of primary, secondary and all-through education Simon Cooper-Hind and Dave Harris will take you through a whole raft of ideas and strategies you can use to ensure that no child ever falls through the gap between primary and secondary education again.

Focus: Leadership, transition, community, teaching and learning. All phases

Simon has been a highly innovative head and is now a sought-after international speaker, trainer and coach. For him, good schools are about doing whatever it takes to make learning real for all children.

With experience across all phases of education they make an unbeatable combination addressing the issue of transition in UK schools.

Dave, author of Are You Dropping the Baton? - your guide to effective transition and Brave Heads, is proof that great leadership not only demands vision and the ability to inspire but also the courage to do the right thing.
